Memoranda

As far as I know Miss Fiskin and Mrs. Clemll paid no Registration fee. One or two articles of Miss Fiskin's were sold, none of Mrs. Clemll. Miss Wilson had entire charge of both Exhibits and will doubtless see the members of the General Committee about it.

The only damage or breakage in our department was done by Mrs. Bushnell's children in putting up their pictures. Their pins marred the plaster ~~a very little~~, altho' they were not intended to touch it. ~~I will write to the owner of the Hall and explain.~~

Everything bought for use by us has been preserved and is left, properly labelled, in Jordan's Hall.

Watchman, cart-men, work-men all "did noble".

ABLE ARTISTS GET FESTIVAL AWARDS

Prizes Given for Many Products---Woman's Club Winds Up Its Two Days' Entertainment ---Former Figures Surpassed.

After two days of festivities, members of the Woman's Club of Palo Alto were busy this morning dismantling the skating rink and Jordan's Hall, the aftermath presenting almost as busy a scene as the preliminaries. Although no figures have been compiled as yet, the financial results of this year's festival are likely to surpass that of last. Heavier expenses have been incurred flowers, amateur chrysanthemums, won by flowers from the garden of Mrs. C. D. Marx, S. Nison being the gardner; professional chrysanthemums, won by F. R. Mills; dahlias, won by flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Donohue, of Menlo Park, M. Carter being gardner.

Cooking: Bread, Mrs. E. G. Greene; preserved cherries, first, Mrs. E. G. Greene; second, Mrs. A. Alderton; sweet pickles, Mrs. Greene; chemically preserved fruits, Joseph Gossett.

Many of the entries did not win prizes for the reason that they were not placed in the competitive classes. Much of this display was of high merit. Among the honorable mention accorded were: Art department, bronze ware, Dirk Van Erp, of Vallejo; buckle design by C. R. Ashbee, of London; woven basket by Dr. French, of San Jose; photo of San Luis Rey Mission, E. C. Starks.

ABLE ARTISTS GET FESTIVAL AWARDS

Prizes Given for Many Products---Woman's Club Winds Up Its Two Days' Entertainment ---Former Figures Surpassed.

After two days of festivities, members of the Woman's Club of Palo Alto were busy this morning dismantling the skating rink and Jordan's Hall, the aftermath presenting almost as busy a scene as the preliminaries. Although no figures have been compiled as yet, the financial results of this year's festival are likely to surpass that of last. Heavier expenses have been incurred because of the fact that the club has assumed the entire management of the affair and because it was necessary to rent both the hall and the skating rink, but the receipts it is believed will more than counterbalance this unusual outlay.

Saturday evening was a fitting climax to the program. Of the attractions furnished, the most popular were the grand march, the fencing and the gymnasium exhibition. Announcement of the prizes held the interest of those present.

Jordan's Hall was filled yesterday during the four hours that it was thrown open to the public. Opportunity was afforded to gain a minute appreciation of the articles on display.

Awards in the competitive classes were as follows:

Art: Portraits; first prize, Wilson & Kelly; second prize, E. C. Starks. Landscape, first, Wilson & Kelly; second, Robinson & Crandall.

Jewelry: First, Robert Harsche, a silver pin; second, Miss D'Arcy Gaw, a bronze fob.

Bookbinding: First, Miss Holden of San Francisco; second, Miss Elizabeth Scofield.

Furniture: First, Mr. Atkinson, a leather cabinet; second, E. C. Starks, a chair.

Fabrics: First, Mrs. Gaw, wall hanging; second, Mrs. E. C. Elliott, embroidery.

Metal work: First, Miss Fiskin of Seattle, a Paul Revere lantern; second Miss Gaw, an electric fixture.

Pictures: Landscape; first, G. L. Noyes. Illustration, first, Mrs. Edith Bushnell. Water color, still live, Mrs. Charles Wing.

School Cabinet: first, E. N. Clark, a chair; second, Joseph Baker, a settee; honorable mention, Wesley Templeton, table.

Needlework: Lace, first, Mrs. Kemp; second, Mrs. Slonaker; embroidery, Miss McLachlan; second, Mrs. E. W. Moulton; needlework, first, Miss Wallace; second, Miss E. W. Moulton.

Flowers: Potted plants, F. R. Mills; ferns, James Lynch of Menlo Park; cut flowers, amateur chrysanthemums, won by flowers from the garden of Mrs. C. D. Marx, S. Nison being the gardner; professional chrysanthemums, won by F. R. Mills; dahlias, won by flowers from the gardens of Mrs. Donohue, of Menlo Park, M. Carter being gardner.

Dear Mrs. Green,

I have had two my pleasant communications from the Women's Club recently, one a check for two dollars as a prize for embroidery and the other Mrs. Stuart's most courteous and hearty note in regard to my work for the Exhibition. It is nice of the ladies to say such things and I am glad anything went off so well as to seem to merit it. I assure you I am not the only one responsible and all of us worked with the greatest pleasure all through.
